

Antebellum Trail Covington and Social Circle, Georgia

We will transport your group back in time through the picturesque Old South. Here, you will enjoy the history, charm and hospitality visitors expect to experience when they travel to the South.

Just outside the reach of the hustle and bustle of Atlanta, you will find the small, charming city of Covington, incorporated in 1822 and known for its wealth of Antebellum and Victorian-era homes.

Pictured here is one of the homes you will visit. Sandtown Place, built in 1840 for Mr. John Broughton will give you a trip into early American History. The original structural areas show hand-hewn timbers and wide board ceilings and floors. The gardens are lovely and in addition, there is an 1880 general store representing a super-market of yesteryear.

You will also have an opportunity to tour Boxwood, built in 1830 and furnished with American Empire and Victorian antiques. There is also a large collection of Napoleon memorabilia, including a large Sevres urn and pedestal, dated 1806, which legend has it presented to Napoleon I by the Sevres factory to commemorate his victory of the Battle of Jena.

A very special lunch awaits you at the Blue Willow Inn, recognized by Southern Living, Gourmet Magazine, CNN and USA Today as the South's finest Southern Cooking restaurant. While dining in this magnificent Greek Revival mansion you will feel what life was like for the wealthy of the Antebellum South. And, no one is allowed to leave hungry!
